

Notice for the Qualification Examination PhD in Global Health, College of Public Health, National Taiwan University

By law of qualification examination of PhD in Global Health

1. All students who have completed the courses after the first academic year enrolled in the program are required to take the qualification examination in order to become PhD. candidates.
2. Qualification examination subjects included one required course and one elective course depending on majors.

Required subject: Principle and application in the health research methods

Elective subject:

- (1) For Institute of Epidemiology & Preventive Medicine: (i) Biostatistics for public health, or (ii) Theory of method in epidemiology
 - (2) For Institute of Health Policy and Management: Global health policy and management
 - (3) For Institute of Environmental Health and Institute of Occupational Medicine and Industrial Hygiene: Environmental and Occupational Health
3. Exam date will be hold in the first or second week of second academic year.
 4. Exam will be conducted in in-class and closed book ways.
 5. A test score above 70 on a scale of 0-100 is deemed as “pass”.

Please check the schedule below for PhD in Global Health qualification examination:

Exam date: First or second week of September, 2014

(8:30~12:30 for required subject, and 13:30~17:30 for elective subject)

Location: CPH building